The ornate glistening
Of an opaque wall
To keep those overly interested eyes from seeing
It will all stay here
It stays inside
Don't need to share the knowledge

Running the spectrum
From grey to white
Nervously intent on reaching the upper echelons
Where it belongs
Unchanged

I ran away and crashed head on into another
I ran away and crashed head on into another
Looking back is suicide
I ran away and crashed head on into another
I ran away and crashed head on into another
I ran away and crashed head on into another
