Destroying something beautiful
Destroying something beautiful
Destroying something beautiful

Left me dry
To wither atop the causeway
Staring vacantly into the distance
This irritable
Misplaced trek through all I know
Leaves me bashful and alone
Otherwise I can't go on desiring

Stretched thin
An impossible way to be
Struggling to cope with carefulness
Disinterest
In the biding time and rising of the stars
Hang high above as I decide
To make the final cut a death blow for you

Destroying something beautiful
Destroying something beautiful
Destroying something beautiful
The only way I can hold in is if I
Destroy something beautiful
Destroy something beautiful in your eyes
Feed me a line to stay alive
Destroying something beautiful
Slipped way under the tide and swallowed
Destroying something beautiful
Destroying something beautiful
Erase that hallowed artifact from history
Destroying something beautiful

"Even the Mona Lisa's falling apart"
