I used to cry
It didn't matter
I used to think I was alone
Like the clouds forever floating
I never thought I had a home
Everyday getting longer
Why was life so lonely?
So sad, so scared
I needed someone to hold me

You came along to show me
And now it's my love you own
Your heart is my home
You fill me completely
I love you so deeply from now on we're one

So many stars in only one sky
How can it last forever
One lifetime so many choices
Can we stay together
One truth, so many voices
How could I know better

You came along to show me
And now it's my love you own
Your heart is my home
You fill me completely
I love you so deeply from now on we're one

I used to say it didn't matter
Now I know I do belong
My heart growing stronger
Like the dark before the dawn
Someday I'll see what it's like to be free

You came along to show me
And now it's my love you own
Your heart is my home
You fill me completely
I love you so deeply from now on we're one
