It was a particular night
When it was the quarter moon that moved & not the planets when the gases of Jupiter were ignite
The Sun had burnt out

We were balancing on an ice-age we could have fallen either way it was your mind versing mine Exploding was I Vesuvius I with emotional activity

You were the rock
you were the lava Spilling from my sides & you when my mind was tired
My body weak
My face sad
My soul torn You put the music back on

You Cradled Me!

You covered my face in laugh lines you covered my face in crows feet you covered my face in kisses U cradled me

You are the bark of a dog warning it's master
You are the melody in the chimes
You are the view from my back door Looking out on to a galaxy of gardens where flowers bloom & perfume

You Cradled Me!
