"Pride"

I can see the sunlight dancing in your hair

I say I love you and that I really care

My trembling fingers dial the telephone

But to no avail I find that there's no one at home

No, no one at home

(Chorus)

Time is not on my side when my heart begins to stray

It was my mistake to let my pride get in the way

Pride is just a heavy burden to such a weary man

I feel myself breaking down inside now

I don't know now much of this I can stand

I can see the moonlight dancing in her hair

I searched a long hard road to find someone who cares

Do you care?

Do you care?

(Chorus)
