and therein he found a stoneÂ...
Â...and therein he found a rockÂ...
Â...and he'd call it peterÂ...
Â...and there upon the stoneÂ...
Â...there upon the rockÂ...
Â...the rock foundationÂ...
Â...there upon the heart of manÂ...
Â...and from their heartsÂ...
Â...he'd make what's holyÂ...

Adam In the Garden, Peter not yet Bourn
Father up in heaven, Mother soon to mourn
Nothing can change whats never been
And nothing can alter what will never be
But something can make it sound different
Something other than a fantasy
No field is barren if you look in the soil
And nothing can master your heart
Though it may seem it happens often
This foundation doesn't come apart
Few can live a life that they cannot partake
Is everything wrong if nobodies right
None can know the truth if they're burned at the stake
Does everything you strive for have to be in sight
Eve's gone to the forest, a forest clear of stones
Their Father up in Heaven someday bring them home

Â...had he not found the stoneÂ...
Â...had he not found the rockÂ...
Â...had not called it PeterÂ...
Â...nor had there been the stoneÂ...
Â...nor the very rockÂ...
Â...the rock foundationÂ...
Â...there may be no heart of manÂ...
Â...nor from their heartsÂ...
Â...could come what's holyÂ...
