Someday Things'll Change in this little town i grew up in maybe it'll rearrange and the young ones wont be burnin crosses Someday Things'll Change
in this great big world in my back pocket
maybe it'll rearrange
and the old men wont be trading curses i hope someday that things'll change right now the gods are gamblin on ho'll lose more but it'll all proolly stay the same and with the wars all raging in our backyards do they think they have us tamed? are we the sheep in pasture headin for dinner when will they all learn nobody wins if ANYONE's fighting i hope someday that things'll turn out for the better with no one losing but maybe that's a hope in vain does anybody feel the pain?
