"On The Run"

You can't catch me 'cause I'm on the run,
breaking through the trees and the setting of the sun.
Change your ways now before you hear one day
that I'm up and gone and you're finding out too late.
I don't do nothin' wrong, but you always seem to say that what I feel ain't right. I'm gonna do it anyway.
You can't catch me 'cause I'm on the run,
breakin' through the trees and the setting of the sun.
If you come with me alright, but don't you block my path.
I'm headed down that road and you don't want to feel
my wrath.
Don't think that I am saying 'I don't care for you,' I do.
If you're standing in my way, I won't go 'round you, I'll go through.
You can't catch me, 'cause I'm on the run,
breaking through the trees and the setting of the sun
