today had too much no, today had too little yes it's hard to keep saying thank you, it's hard to feel blessed
i won't worry any more i will keep my eyes open, see the many in the one i will be like the morning, always turn to the sun
i will try to find more in a little bit less every prayer gets answered, it's not always yes
i'm a view from the ground, i'm a small working part everything returns to the same heart every blade of grass has an angel whispering, grow how it all fits together i don't have to know what i will do i will hand it to you i won't worry any more
