Four hours you wake up
I wish that I could be there I lay awake while you're dreaming somewhere

So long, wish I could hold on

You're light years, you're light years, You're light years
away

But you're right here, you're light years, You're light
years away

Don't understand how we got here
I want to go back again
Right now I miss my bestfriend

So long, wish I could hold on

You're light years, you're light years, You're light years

years away

It's only in darkness that you see the stars
I wish I could reach you

But you're light years, you're light years, You're light

You're right here, you're light years, You're light years

years away..
