To rise is to fall
At every turn there's another wall
Is it truth or a lie?
The more I see the more I hide.

And to live for tonight
All these thoughts that I have inside
In a dream there is peace
Swinging gently in front of me

There's a day, there's a way to find just what I've been looking for
In the sky I see light, there still is time now to get this right

Step in and breathe out
The cougar is weight that has kept me down To swim is to face the rising tide that will take my place.

There's a day, there's a way to find just what I've been
looking for
In the sky I see light, there still is time now to get this
It's all that I've been looking for Love through an open door
It was all that I was looking for Your love through an open door.

There's a day, there's a way to find just what I've been
looking for
In the sky I see light, there still is time now to get this

looking for
In the sky I see light, there still is time now to get this

It's all that I've been looking for
Love through an open door
It was all that I was looking for
Your love through an open door
