In 1983...

A prophet was born

[Chorus 32x]

Shy One

[Verse 1]

I feel myself growing up

To be nothing

It's like my soul

Doesn't want any part with me

I'm stuck all alone

Thinkin' and talkin' to myself

And I cannot even roam

Without a single thought that

Will make me in the spot

Putting light on anything

That is wanting me to drop

But I will not

Let me drop

We will stay

At the top

In my mind

I'm confused

I don't know

What to do

I will live

And soon die

Nobody will cry

Who would know

Who I am

I am nothing

That's the end

The pressure will soon

Rise up in the deep

Of the part in the veins

That makes me insane

Can't lose control

Am I losing my mind?

And reacting to slow

Never get recognized all that I've done

Just working so hard with no play, no fun
Someone please and open your mind
So you can see my kingdom

[Chorus 16x]
Shy One

[Verse 2]
All of these questions
That haven't been answered
To why I am feeling
This loneliness after
But then it's not fun
They're taking advantage
And I have run
My life is a book and it
You gotta look deep inside or else
You will not learn
But you were mislead
I knew this would happen
So tie me up and
Let me burn
Maybe this is all that I need
And I can not even make up of the best
When you put me to the test
And you keep on blinding me
To the point where you can't see
I'm a little lost soul, I'm an unborn seed
As the days go by
I feel myself fly by nights
And I feel all alone
And this is how I grow
Feel my eyes just move
And look the other way
You can put me down
Cause I am here to lay

[Chorus 23x]
Shy One
