The chances of being born are so slim
So keep warm, so keep warm
And take some heart at being born at quite so young
You can learn to talk, and learn to walk in your own time
Your so young...

So take heart in being born
Making plans that you can't keep, that you've outgrown
You've taken this too far now take me home
There is nothing to eat and there is nowhere to sleep in these four walls
Your so young...

The chances of being born are so slim
So keep warm, so keep warm
And take some heart at being born at quite so young
You can learn to talk and learn to walk in your own time
Your so young...
