[Verse]

I should write a report on why we change day to day with hours and hours of research and humans locked up in a cage then tally the data with the results inconclusive damnit I've been at this one for years and still no answer

[Chorus]

put under a microscope by my own free will take my own blood samples look for imbalanced chemicals cat scan for holes in my brain and pulse rate my heart

[Verse 2]

but there is one last concern it seems I may drive them away friends and family always running from me these days

I ask myself, like any analyst would "Chris how do you always manage to fuck up every last thing you have that is good"

[Chorus]
