And I would've walked behind
And I would've walked beside you
And I would've told you every lie
And I would've done that for you

Open your eyes sometime
It's funny how I adore you
Gonna get every line just fine
I'll even sing it for you now

And there was a time I felt
The morning sun rose up for you
And I would've whispered in your ear
And I would make coffee for you

And I would've crossed that line
And I could've drawn it for you
Tell me that everything is fine
And couldn't you do that for me now

Because I'm a fan
From way back when you faltered
Waiting for your mail
If you can remember
I was standing there with you

And wouldn't you say
That I've been an idiot for you
And I couldn't shake you if I tried
And I'd light a candle for you

And somehow the time flies by
And I haven't done it for you
And I have a song to sing today
And I haven't done it for you now

Because I'm your fan
From way back when you faltered
Waiting for your mail
If you can remember
I was standing there with you

Standing there with you
Standing there with you
Standing there with you

Because I'm your fan
From way back when you faltered
Waiting for your mail
If you can remember
I was standing there with

Summer love moves fast
You get a little slow and the fall moves past
But you'll never find another love like my love

Winter slows the pace
Spring brings the summer back to your face
But you'll never find another love like my love

Summer love moves fast
You get a little slow and the fall moves past
But you'll never find another love like my love

I'm getting along
Now, that I found salvation
Now, that I found salvation
Open your eyes, salvations now

I'm getting along
