I remember times we used to spend within this room in darkness I can still pretend, I can still pretend she's with me. They always say that time will wash away all the painful memories, but I want them to stay I want them to stay inside me. I never said I wanted your sympathy you can take you're bleeding heart right out the door don't leave me I never said I needed your empathy I'll stay inside this room forevermore believing. How can a person simply disappear? You close your eyes one day and vanish in the air and no one is prepared to take it. But what if I refuse to let her go? Her picture on the mirror and her scent upon my clothes her scent upon my clothes for comfort. I never said I wanted your sympathy you can take you're bleeding heart right out the door don't leave me I never said I needed your empathy I'll stay inside this room forevermore believing If you can touch and you can taste it and it's nothing like you've ever felt before and you see it and you can feel it and it's nothing like you've ever felt before slowly slipping slowly slipping away I never said I wanted your sympathy you can take you're bleeding heart right out the door don't leave me I never said I needed your empathy I'll stay inside this room forevermore believing. I never said I wanted your sympathy but it's something that I've never needed more don't leave me I never said I needed your empathy sometimes we just don't know what's in store believe me.
