lyrics and music by Brandon Fleming

I lost my identity and now it is gone

I gave up my right to be wrong and now it's gone gave up my identity--counted it lost

I took up the cross and counted her loss repeat

people they play games in my face such array such a disgrace

I don't quite see their meaning 'they're leaning some kind of understanding -I just can't see and people tell me to see their in reality something I don't live a false sense of joy or stab in the eye cause they just don't see the knife in their side

I lost my identity and now it is gone

you don't see me it's not my face you're seeing you don't hear me it's not my voice you're hearing you don't know me cause I've died to Christ you've got to know Him to be on my side

bridge

now defaced I know I was wrong give me my space cause now I am strong God erased the weak in me what you don't see are traces of me

I lost my identity and now it is gone

repeat
