lyrics and music by Brandon Fleming you held me carried me, they tried & scared me put the blade of the knife to the neck of a girl just got married, will never be a mother why did u choose to hate me, take my life, break my family did you hate your life so much, to take mine, is it enough to make a difference whatever your cause was your broken heart died in the middle of trying to find out

was it enough... tell me, tell me, carry my soul God why oh why did it have to end like this why did you have to end my life like this it was so short, tales not told a life that would never unfold i was so young

i was only a toddler, i was not ready my life still needed to be lived any early checkout just horrific makes you want to cry

was it enough...was it enough!

to make a difference whatever your cause was

was it enough...

we will not forget you, you died for our freedom you rushed in with no concern, your very lives at stake

we will not forget you, you died for our freedom sacrifice our penance paid, your lives you gave for our freedom

was it enough...
