At last, you've found all your dreams in me
But I am not for real, this isn't as it seems
This moment will close, so hold me while you can
And I will hold you too, and we can just pretend

Take it to the center
Take it as you need
Take it on your back
Or take it on your knees
Cause' none of this means anything
I can barely feel
Maybe it's a lack of warmth
The need for something real
But this, this
This, this
Intimacy
It leaves me cold and jaded
It leaves me unfulfilled
I know this isn't what you want

I remember, a time when we were special
We saw in black and white

There's a doorway, it leads
To another life
