The day he left I was in control
The day he became like one of them, I broke.
When he said goodbye, angels began to cry
What can we do?
If there's no other way let's try
When he left I was in control
I gave the most precious thing I know

Sometimes love is in disguise
It's a disguise
Sometimes love gives reasons why
Sometimes love's a sweet surprise
Sometimes love seems like a lie
It seems like a lie.
If I refuse to come and die
Refuse to die
Then we could not see eye to eye.

The day he died
I broke inside my soul
To pay this price, bitter sacrifice
The sky grew black as he breathed his last
The day he left me I was in control

Sometimes love is in disguise
It's a disguise
Sometimes love gives reasons why
Sometimes love's a sweet surprise
Sometimes love seems like a lie
It seems like a lie.
If I refuse to come and die
Refuse to die
Then we could not see eye to eye.
See eye to eye

All my plans had a purpose to serve
When I was in control, that's when
