I'm throwing out these useless things
Old books and thoughts that I don't need

I'm going out without my coat
I'll let me feet go where they go

I'll talk to strangers in the street
You never know who you might meet

And I'll buy sunflowers for my window sill
And I won't care what anybody thinks
And I'll be free like free like
Like when you're next to me

Tomorrow won't be in my head
I won't regret the things I've said

I'll make mistakes with with all my might
Who says what's wrong and what is right

I'll wear bright yellow if I choose
Rooftop sunshine for my blues

I'll buy sunflowers for my window sill
And I won't care what anybody thinks
And I'll be free like free like
Like when you're next to me

Goodbye old stories
No no no worries
Goodbye old stories
No no no worries

I'll buy sunflowers for my window sill
And I won't care what anybody thinks
And I'll be free like free like
Like when you're next to me
