(F.Medin and S. Hogstrom)
Headache, give me a break
I curse the things I used to fake
I welcome still another day
Yesterday ended my stay in the sun
It hurts to hear you've had it your way
It's you, not I
I say goodbye, goodbye night and day...
What dues do you pay?
What fear do you leave behind?
You used to be wiser, the one I knew
Wouldn't leave us here to wonder why
On a train your letter in hand, pounding rails across our land
I wish it to be undone
It's you, not I
I say goodbye, 'cause you wouldn't wait...
What dues do you pay?
What fear do you leave behind?
In a world of rejection, I trusted you
Please don't lay this burdon on me
In youth times were cloudy, but we struggled hard to rise above where others failed...
What dues do you pay?
What fear do you leave behind?
