It's so surreal, coated in lies
So send my regards
On a rocket to mars
The dreamer's arrived

I should have left her something
In a world that's made of stone

If time could heal and never resign
It's all about nothing
And that'd be a good thing
To leave it behind

I should have left her something
In a world that's set in stone
I left her nothing
Now her world has turned to stone

Cover me with semi precious love
That's all I need
Cover me with semi precious love
Just let it go, just let it go

I should have left her something
In a world that's set in stone
Now her world has turned to stone

Cover me with semi precious love
That's all I need
Cover me with semi precious love
Just let it go, just let it go

And the stars there lay one deception

In the lonely days and lonely ways
When knowledge turns the outer haze
To crystal clear and I fool myself
That the only way to understand is to cover

Cover me with semi precious love
That's all I need

Cover me with semi precious love
Just let it go, just let it go
