so i never said i never saw the blind man watching, me across the way this time, we never knew who he was be he sounds fine. watch me turn my belt to the side now , kinda stickin out in a big crowd, she said your looking kinda funny but im knowin that your feeling alright i said i feel alright now were feeling alright.

so lets run run run away from this place ill never turn around just to see your pretty face and i know one day well make it through as long as i stay true. Now we wont give up and i know were running circles, even though were getting older we still watch the commercials im sorry that i will not buy what you have to sell.

now we kinda look the part but the wrong way, feeding me the lines on what to say, i never really cared but anyway, watch me lay here as i stay crossing the line now im crossin the line, i killed the prom queen just in time. no one is going to say it so get out of my way, not listen to what i got to say.
chorus.
