"Jump Ship"

How did I get here? Waking in the dim light
Circulating rhythm, washed in limbic tides.
We alone, attacked the throne,
Picked up the phone, never to reach her.
A whispered sigh, a silent cry, ahh!

And I came before, and I saw you there you bat an eye and I was in the air,
And I turn the key, invisible to you.
And the lines do form, around your eyes.
Watch you getting older, while the breath does rise
And I say "hello," invisible to you.

Now I have arrived and I realize,
I am alive, I am alive!

We alone, threw the stones
And now we've grown, never to return
I heard the sigh, you never cried "Jump Ship".

when everyone's down to look left
I look right on track, look up and I look down and Jump Ship.
