It's getting harder to decide on which way i should go
Should i let myself down fast?
I don't think i wanna know It's over said but understated just how hard it can be Hey i think i've seen this road before and it's so hard to believe
I'd be back this way again after i told myself to leave
You never said that it was gonna be easy But i didn't know just how hard it would be
I go 'round and 'round
I'm lost and found
I'm never happy in the middle I've gotta be up or down Just when i think I've found level ground
I turn around and destroy all of the life i've found Well self-destruction's kinda dumb
But if you do it well
You can find heaven if you can handle hell It's all a part of understanding just how strange life can be Living a lie becomes so easy but now i just want to be free I feel inside out never thought i'd doubt my ability to work it all out Going forward to fall back working hard to relax
I never thought that i would be following my own tracks it's going 'round... It's going 'round... It's going 'round
