hello how are you its been a long long time since i've seen you, kissed you and held what use to be mine it's hard, now that you're gone so hard, knowing you moved on but i'm keeping the faith that one day we'll end up where we use to be i never thought in a million years that i'd be here shedding tears i thought that i could let you go but my heart can't say good-bye

i'm still not over you even with the pain we put us through can't get over you and won't let go i see a chance for us down the road and it will be a better day, loving you a better way yes i'm lost and suffocating without you
i'm still not over you
come back to me baby

(?) where are you i really miss your smile i can't take it, can't fake it not even for a little while
(?)
it's (?) deep inside of me thought we were meant to be so i gave you everything
i never thought in a million years that i'd be the one shedding tears

even with the pain we put us through

i'm still not over you
even with the pain we put us through
i'm still not over you
you'll see that it beats for me i'm still not over you
