All the stars are out, seems like they know what's going on.

I still can't shake the doubt, but it would appear I'm the only one 'cos everywhere the good will filled the air, and it got the crowd to sing so loud that no-one even heard their city crying.

Here to raise a toast using the milk of human kind.

To exorcise a ghost and maybe even clean a dirty mind.

'Cos everywhere the good will filled the air, and it got the crowd to sing so loud that no-one even heard their city crying.

Because you could be the one.

Everybody come together all around the world.

The gifted, armed with all your wealth, are now saving planet Earth.
