Every evening when I walk through the door
I get the same old lies that I've heard before
You're going out for the evening, going out with a friend
Do you really want me to believe that again?

You're telling white lies
You're telling white lies
Well, I can see right through that thin disguise
Can't you tell, I can tell when you're telling white lies?

Take these chains and set me free
Release me from this misery
Don't you waste my time with your alibis
'Cos your heart can't hide what I see in your eyes

You're telling white lies
You're telling white lies
Well, I can see right through that thin disguise
Can't you tell, I can tell when you're telling white lies?

Every evening when I walk through the door
I get the same old lies that I've heard before
Going out for the evening, going out with a friend
Do you really want me to believe that again?

You're telling white lies
You're telling white lies
Well, I can see right through that thin disguise
Can't you tell, I can tell when you're telling white lies?

You're telling white lies
You're telling white lies
Well, I can see right through that thin disguise
Can't you tell, I can tell when you're telling white lies?

White lies
White lies
White lies
