In your time of trouble

I wish that I could be the one

That you'd call at night

When you needed a friend

In your time of sorrow

I wish that I could be the one

To make you smile again

Its not over

Just start over

Oh you are so beautiful and special

Your my hero

You don't even know

You are always there inside my mind

I'm so preoccupied

Sending love to you across the sky

So I never seem to get things done

Your the only one

I worry all the time

So I have to let you go

In your time of trouble

I wish that I could be the one

That you'd want to hold you

And tell you your fine

In your time of sorrow

I wish that I could be the one

To make you try again

Its not over

Just start over

Oh you are so fragile and so peculiar

You took a little detour

You feel a little unsure

Don't give up

There's a way out and you know it

Don't give up

You are always there inside my mind

I'm so preoccupied

Sending love to you across the sky

So I never seem to get things done

Your the only one

I worry all the time

So I have to let you go

You are always there inside my mind

I'm so preoccupied

Sending love to you across the sky

So I never seem to get things done

Your the only one

I worry all the time

So I have to let you go

You are always there inside my mind

I'm so preoccupied

Sending love to you across the sky

So I never seem to get things done

You're the only one

I worry all the time

So I have to let you go
