As I lay here beside you, counting minutes in my head I might as well stop struggling, this time I think we're really dead

And this old heart of mine stumbles as it falls
'Cause love has no meaning where you are involved

We sit here in silence and watch the blue and gray mountain

As the snow blows off the creases, like water from a faucet

And there's not enough firewood to keep this house warm

'Cause love has no meaning where you are concerned

Well, I'm broken down, lonely and I'm run to the ground

And I'll warn you of something that I've recently found

Love has no meaning when you are around
