

Ready Set, The "Sixty Eight"

Visit "Sixty Eight" on MotoLyrics.com

And one day the worlds gonna be alright,
And there will be no pain Shut the ICU down tonight cuz everyone is safe
And I will overlook this operation by your side cuz were too young, were still kids
Were too young, were still kids
I see your hearts get bigger when you lose your friends
And everyones around you saying that its not the end,
It's not the end
But you cried so hard,
And I watched you grow so strong
And I made you laugh in my arms
And your tear-stained shirt, you felt the snowflakes on your back
And you stood so proud
You had me wishing, wanting, begging for some words from you
And you smiled to the crowd,
Its enough for now
cuz were too young, were still kids
Were too young, were still kids
Take a break from the mask,
Youve done enough today
I saw you smiling like its all ok,
And it will be soon
This is a song for the boys and the girls I never met
And all my friends that I have had and I have kept So get me down, down for the count cuz we are all the same, were all the same Its my job to keep you strong, I do it cuz Im supposed to Its my job to keep you strong, I do it cuz I like to Its my job to keep you strong, I do it cuz Im told to.
Its my job to keep you strong, I do it cuz I love you
I do it cuz I love you

Visit Ready Set, The page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.