We steal to lose every colour

From the sky

Then crawl as a child

While the shadows burn our eyes

We know there's no longer shine

On this burned out rainbow

Lately it seems we've been chasing

What times resolved

Maybe something means nothing here

After all

Whispers are now screams

This conclusion never ends

My pride with your kiss

Even angels can't defend

We know we're running head on

Into our confusion

Lately it seems we've been chasing

What times resolved

Maybe something means nothing here

After all

Still we hide safe behind these crumbled walls

Cause we know there's nothing more here after all

We know there's no longer shine

On this burned out rainbow

Lately it seems we've been chasing

What times resolved

Maybe something means nothing here

After all

After all....after all...after all...after all
