"Forgiveness"

In my silence I would love to forget
But restitution hasn't come quite yet
And with what I crave, I keep pushing forth
I stretch my heart to hear some more Used to be all I wanted to learn was wisdom, trust and truth
Now all I really want to learn
Is forgiveness for you
As my seasons change I've now grown to know
When one's heart creates, one's soul doesn't owe
So I wash away stains of yesterday then tempt my heart with love's display Used to be only what to learn
was wisdom, trust and truth
Now all I really want to learn
Is forgiveness for you
