We were speaking of belief Beliefs and conditioning All belief possibly could be said to be the result of some conditioning
Thus the study of history is simply the study of one system of beliefs Deposing another and so on and so on and so on A psychologically tested belief of our time is that the central nervous System, which feeds it's impulses directly to the brain, is unable to Discern between the real and the vividly imagined experience,
If there is a difference, and most of us believe there is Am i being clear?
To examine these concepts requires tremendous energy and discipline
To experience the now without preconception or belief To allow the unknown to occur and to occur requires clarity
For where there is clarity, there is no choice
And where there is choice, there is misery
But then why should anyone listen to me?
Why should i speak since i know nothing?
