Walked back home from this disaster
Saw your ghost under the plaster
My heart in thrown, broken to pieces
I'm coming home

Lost my way, gave up my treasure
Hid my heart, lost you forever
[Incomprehensible] you won't know her father
I can't come home

Loved you first when we were children
You broke my heart, all that's forgiven
We lost our chance to love one another
We'll love again but just not each other

Love again but just not each other
Love again but just not each other
Love again but just not each other
Love again but just not each other

We will love again but just not each other
We will love again but just not each other
