It's costing you sleep and I'm waking up but baby just maybe you saved me it's sad and simple we're killers on the run we're so good at what we do yea we're unsinkable for the sake of bedroom eyes I float around in star lit skies

this is the best, this is the best setting for a tragedy but if we live, but if we live to say goodnight I'm on your side, I'm on your side, the last six were a good sign but they insist on telling me this, this is a canvas for calamity

Chorus:

If you're singing his favorite song then it's all downhill from here for me and the past I brought along stitched up inside a bedroom scene no no no we were sinkable and just in time to be too late

I heed no warnings of that night I pick you up like a bad habit and spin around the room for one last time I guess I love mistakes, you're the best to make we're so good at what we do yea we think we're unsinkable but baby come on, don't wait, I'm right, you're wrong, this time we have to jump at once because
