I'm finding that it's easy to stall.
As I sink into the city, I'm waiting for your phone call.
Wishing there was somewhere to go, and I'm missing
you.
Yeah, I'm missing you...
I'm diving in an ocean of all of the times we swore we'd fall,
But I am alone, and I am wishing there was someone to call.

I'm wishing there was somebody here.
Alone in the atmosphere.
Someday the sky's going to clear,
and I'm going to find a way to get down from here.

I'm nervous, and I'm clearly a mess.
My mind is a wreck, and my head is like an unmade bed.
But it's as good as it gets when I think of you.
So, I think of you.
Every bit of bad I forget from the moment you walk in.
You're every medicine I need to let me live.

I'm wishing there was somebody here.
Alone in the atmosphere.
Someday the sky's going to clear,
and I'm going to find a way to get down from here
