

Reputation, The "Bottlerocket Battles"

Visit "Bottlerocket Battles" on MotoLyrics.com

A summer's worth of bottle rocket battles in one weekend, we've been at each other's throats and you leave right on cue.
This disappearing act gets older every time you tweak it, and the only person you can really change these days is you it's once before you noticed twice before I cared three times and we've both had it for the year so think once before you bother and twice before you share this time let's get this over with right here now you don't really want nobody knowing what you're thinking well, I'm not the only one whose running from the truth before the shocker only left your friends and the thing is that the only person you can really blame these days is you it's once before you noticed
twice before I cared
three times and we've both had it for the year
so think once before you bother
and twice before you share
this time let's get this over with right here
it's once before you noticed and twice before I cared three times and we've both had it for the year
so think once before you bother
and twice before we share
this time let's get this over with right here

Visit Reputation, The page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.