"Bring Me Back"

I've lost track of time.
Days turn into years of broken memories of a man I'm set to live up to.
I've heard it said that time heals all wounds,
But this one still eats away at me.

Tell me who do I turn to when everything's gone grey?

I can barely remember your face.

Here's to the lessons I'll never learn.
Bring me back from this.
I've got nothing left to hold on to.
Bring me back to those years.

Home movies only do so much to show me who to be.
I'll dig through these memories,
But old man, I've got no way to let you live on through me.
