Six o'clock
All those early risers
Heading off to work
Twelve o'clock
Most busy time of all
No one cares to look

To see that I was here
From the start to the end
Singing my song
On the edge of the hall

Six o'clock
Everyone's heading Home
Another workday gone
But as for me
I'll just play until ten
Play the world to sleep

Tonight's complete
Everyone's asleep
I'm on my own
Singing all alone
I want to speak my mind
Leave it all behind
Just as long as I'm heard
One song can change the world

City life
There are so many voices
It get's so hard to hear
Lovely Life
What have you done to me
Never been so clear

The spark that burns inside me
Wishes to sore
But they put it out
They take it away
I will not let myself
Be abused

By what they say, they say is right

They do not see
Everyone's asleep
I'm on my own
Singing all alone
I want to speak my mind
Leave it all behind
Just as long as I'm heard
My voice can change the world

I know you feel
That you're so small in truth
But you never know
What you can do
I can hear your reason
But you feel so small
But the smallest thing
Can Change it all
