A gardener's daughter stopped me on my way on the day I was to wed
It is you who I wish to share my body with she said We'll find a dry place under the sky with a flower for a bed
And for my joy I will give you a boy with the moon and star on his head
Her silver hair flowed in the air laying waves across the sun
Her hands were like the white sands, and her eyes had diamonds on.
We left the road and headed up to the top of the Whisper Wood Ande we walked 'till we came to where the holy magnolia stood.
And there we laid cool in the shade singing songs and making love...
With naked earth beneath us and the universe above
The time was late and wedding wouldn't wait I was sad but I had to go,
So while she was asleep I kissed her cheek for cheerio
The wedding took place and people came from many miles around
There was plenty merriment, cider and wine abound
But out of all that I recall I remembered the girl I met
'Cause she had given me soemthing that my heart could not forget.
A year had passed and everything was just as it was a year before...
As it wwas a year before...
Until the gift that someone left, a basket by my door.
And in there lay the fairest little baby crying to be fed.
I got down on my knees and kissed the moon and star on his head.
As years went by the boy grew high and the village looked on in awe They'd never seen anything like the boy with the moon and star before.
And people would ride from far and wide just to seek the word he spread I'll tell you everything I've learned , and Love is all..... he
