The years go by, our numbers change,
It's hitting harder than the rain and I'm all grown up, I'll bet your bedroom changed, I'll bet the walls and paints,
Don't look the same, just like your face.

It's hitting harder than the rain,
So baby come over,
I know we got older,
But I been looking backwards instead of forward,
Oh baby don't hurry,
I just remembered you hurt me,
I gotta stop thinking backwards start looking forward,

I keep on looking back to you
(And I keep on, just keep on looking forward,
Just keep on looking forward.)
The seasons change, with hurricanes,
They're hitting harder than the rain,
And we get washed away,
And all these picture frames don't even hold my place
to a smile on your face,
I've been erased,

It's hitting harder than the rain,
Oh baby come over,
I know we got older,
But I been looking backwards instead of forward,
Oh baby don't hurry,
I just remembered you hurt me,
I gotta stop thinking backwards start looking forward,

You wanted something from me,
I wanted you to trust me,
Let's tie our names up in a knot,
Sweetie give me all you got,
I'm all empty [x3]

It's hitting harder than the rain,
Oh baby come over,
I know we got older,

But I been looking backwards instead of forward,
Oh baby don't hurry,
I just remembered you hurt me,
I gotta stop thinking backwards start looking forward.

And I keep on looking back to you,
And I keep on, just keep on, just keep on looking forward,
Just keep on looking forward.
So I got tired and moved away,
California doesn't rain..
