Yo Mother you told me I'm nothing like you
You said with the loneliest grin
Bottle in hand as you're passed out on the floor wanting more from me
Sister you're faceless you're not ever there
Ask me if I even care
And Father you're lonely to tell you the truth
I don't care to see you again

By the time that I'm gone
You'll know I've become
The last thing you want me to be

Now how can I live
How can I die
Why do I feel this all the time
Every word I say is true
I just wanna forget you
Cry you'll be the lonely ones (lonely ones)

Something inside me was begging for you to take me as I am
But the torture was more than a moment with you
The pressure was more than I could take
And Father you told me that I'm just like you but all of the feelings have died
And now that I'm gone you'll know what you've done
You've turned me into your disease

Now how can I live
How can I die
Why do I feel this all the time
Every word I say is true
I just wanna forget you
Cry you'll be the lonely ones

How can I live
How can I die
Why do I feel this all the time
Every word I say is true

I just wanna forget you
Cry you'll be the lonely ones

And every single day
I'm tearing out my heart
Why does it still hurt me (why does it still hurt)
Look me in the eyes
Tell me to my face
That I was never worth it (I was never worth it)
All this pain deep inside (all this pain)
I try to hide

How can I live
How can I die
Why do I feel this all the time
Every word I say is true
I just wanna forget you
Cry you'll be the lonely ones

How can I live
How can I die
Why do I feel this all the time
Every word I say is true
I just wanna forget you
Cry you'll be the lonely ones

Do you see what you've done
Do you see what you've done
Do you see what you've done to me

Do you see what you've done
Do you see what you've done
Do you see what you've done to me
