Winter has come for me, can't carry on The chains to my life are strong but soon they'll be gone
I'll spread my wings one more time

Is it a dream?
All the ones I have loved
Calling out my name

The sun warms my face
All the days of my life
I see them passing me by

In my heart I know I can let go
In the end I will find some peace inside
New wings are growing tonight

Is it a dream?
All the ones I have loved
Calling out my name

The sun warms my face
All the days of my life
I see them passing me by

As I am soaring, I'm one with the wind
I am longing to see you again, it's been so long
We will be together again

Is it a dream?
All the ones I have loved
Calling out my name

The sun warms my face
All the days of my life
I see them passing me by
