Found a flaw in the ending of a book that I've read twice
I set her straight it's not based on your life

There's tension in this room
we'll have butterflies soon fumbling 'round in the dark with a flashlight

No need to be uncalm we'll leave it by the phone A message you can swallow a letter to sign No need to be alarmed we'll leave this all alone
And all the guilt will follow you in a line

There's tension in this room
we'll have butterflies soon
fumbling round in the dark with a flashlight
