as we descend. as for what awaits us we have no clue.
or if we'll stand on our own two feet again. . if this song should be my last. then ill make it true. ill make it stronger, a timeless tune.

turning hours into seconds. and the days flow into weeks. as the months become the years. just tell me that you'll keep your promise to me. and never give up on yourself as the days slowly get longer. and the pills no longer help...

you fall a sleep. watch the pictures in your eyes. rewind your searching for a sign. they may break your spirits.
but after all that we've been through. nothing can stop us now. and if they try to break you. then i'll break their fucking necks.

and as time stands still we'll force these last words thru. standing broken, weak and weary right next to you. don't you doubt it. if i meant it yes i did.
this is us taking over. because its our time now.
