I'll tell you a story, if you promise you'll [listen]. in a few hours i've seen you lose faith in [everyone] loses so tragic there seems to be no way place hope in nothing and blame me for your problems there's something starting its cold as the air the grave you dig. stood shallow here. now runs so deep that you can taste it in the air. why turn back now? theres so much that keeps you here keep pushing forward we'll be waiting at the end. don't lose hope. i see you losing. now we've switched sides your on your own. the seasons bring change. your by yourself and still alone.
the days will follow. you'll lose yourself. please forgive me.
this pictures broken the lights burned out. the night will swallow. this place whole.
the past is gone. the lights burned out.
don't lose hope for theres tomorrow.
your breath is getting thin your visions blurry. lost sight of all your goals. and all your aspirations.
