"Avalanche"

We follow the leads
But the clues offer nothin' of any
So you work and you sleep and you wake
And then you've got to wait there
For an avalanche to cover you

But you know you gotta scream
To shake the ice on the side
Of the mountain free

So scream your lungs raw
Till you can't do it anymore
Then work and sleep and wake
And then you've got to wait there
For an avalanche to cover you

But you know you gotta scream
To shake the ice on the side
Of the mountain free

Have you ever thought of children?
Is the world here a heaven?
Are the secrets in the walls here
That I never had been given?

I spend half of my lifetime
Just trying to work for Jesus
I only wish my folks had told it
And he didn't really need us, no

But you know you gotta scream
To shake the ice on the side
Of the mountain free
