Bless its soul, you followed me home
And I didn't want, I didn't want, I didn't want to know
But I bet that I keep it, I cannot say no
And if it went go then it went go and this will be its home

Tomorrow I bet that I fall out of bed
And the first thing, the first thing, the first thing that's said
Is "oh no, not again"
Where are all my friends when I need their jokes that I don't get

Can't get the energies I need
To get a follow up or lead
Too much space, too much time, too much sound
Can't get the energies I need, the energies I need
But the meter is on and the world's going round

He gave me that look and then it slung its hook
And my whole world, my whole world, my whole world it shook
I said "curse your soul, then curse the home of your family, your Friends, even future friends". So

Can't get the energies I need
To get a follow up or lead
Too much space, too much time, too much sound
Can't get the energies I need, the energies I need
But the meter is on and the world's going round

There are traps, you could get snared up Something could flare up and blind you Pass it on to the next one along Pass it up like its something new

Can't get the energies I need
To get a follow up or lead
Too much space, too much time, too much sound
Can't get the energies I need, the energies I need
But the meter is on and the world's spinning round
